

To allow continuous operations throughout the refurbishment period, Accor Technical Services selected a Construction Management form of contract for this particularly complex project. Team members worked very closely with Bovis Lendlease throughout the two principle phases and numerous sub phases of the renovation of all the public areas of London's third largest Exhibition, Meeting and Conference Hotel.

The completion of the Phase I included the renovation of the Exhibition Hall, Main Meeting rooms and Champagne Suite, capable of seating over 600 people for a formal banquet. The most challenging element was the insertion of a new vertical circulation core through the whole of the building to link all the elements together by both lift and escalator. Phase II of the Novotel Hamersmith Atria Project involved the erection of a new 'pavillion' entrance and refurbishment of the main restaurant and adjacent meeting rooms.
