

Novotel Tower Hill occupies a world class location, in the City of London, behind the Grade I listed Trinity House, over looking the Tower of London, a World Heritage Site, with Tower Bridge acting as a back drop.

Given such a site, it was not surprising that the Corporation of London took such a keen interest in the planning application. Nevertheless, planning was achieved in a relatively short time frame, following submissions to the Royal Fine Arts Commission.

Team members in their previous employ were involved in all aspects of this two stage Design and Build project, constructed by Jarvis plc in eighteen months for around £12 million.
